SEPTEMBER 26.

A letter from Peterſburgh, ſpeaking of the approaching diet of that kingdom, ſays, "Never was a Diet likely to be more uſeful to the nation, than that which is to open at Warſaw on the 6th of October next. According to all appearances, the greateſt concord will reign therein; and we hope to ſee thoſe laws reſtored to their vigour, which, by length of time, are almoſt forgotten; others abroliſhed, which have been made by ignorant legiſlators; as well as thoſe which, though they may have been ſalutary heretofore, are now become pernicious or ridiculous, through a change of circumſtances."

Letters from Breſt and Rochfort inform, that upwards of three thouſand tons of naval ſtores have lately been imported there from Ruſſia and the Baltic, for the king's magazines.

SEPTEMBER 29.

On Saturday morning early expreſſes were diſpatches to all the ſea-port towns in this kingdom, with an order for laying an embargo on all the ſhips laden with corn for exportation.

In the Conſtantinople Gazette, publiſhed by authority, it is ſaid, "On the 10th of November laſt arrived at Salonicco, where the court of Syndicate was ſitting, Mr. Boſwell, a Scots Gentleman, who was received by our general with particular marks of friendſhip and eſteem. This gentleman is the firſt Britiſh ſubject who has viſited the internal parts of this iſland. He appeared very curious in informing himſelf of the cuſtoms of our people, and the ſyſtem of our government."

One of the objects for the treaty of commerce, ſaid to be negociating with the Grand Seignior, is for the importation of fine wool from Turky, which will greatly benefit our woollen manufactures.

By the regulations of our treaties with the court of Liſbon, the trade from England to the Azores, or Portugueſe Weſtern Iſlands, will be greatly increaſed.

Extract of a Letter from Rome, June 9.

"A report prevails here, that Monſ. Voltaire is ſoon to make the tour of Italy, and to viſit the iſland of Corſica, to which he has received the moſt flattering invitations. He is ſaid to have lately written to a learned friend at Bologna in theſe terms: 'Corſica is the modern Rome or Sparta. I would ſay the ancient Rome and Sparta of modern times. That oddity Rouſſeau would not have been deſired by the brave inſulaires, who ever his extravagant head may have imagined. They have not fought for thirty years to obtain the privilege of going upon all four. And you ſee he has not gone among the Corſicans, but contented himſelf with the Engliſh. I wiſh to ſee the Corſicans. I think I could be their Tyrtheus, though I fear I am now ſo old that they might make me their Tyrtheus. Like him I am loſing my eyes; but I am ſure it is not for the ſame reaſon — for prying too much into the ſecrets of heaven."

They write from Gibraltar, that the maſter of a veſſel juſt arrived from Madera had brought advice, that a French frigate, of 36 guns, had put into the road the day before he ſailed, to take in wines, &c. bound on ſome new diſcoveries in the South Sea.

Extract of a letter from Norwich, Sept 28, 1766.

"The late ſurpriſing and unaccountable advance of all ſorts of proviſions hath now occaſioned the unhappy conſequences that were reaſonably expected, and where they will end, God only knows.——A general inſurrection began yeſterday at noon; the proclamation was read in the market-place, where victuals of all kinds was thrown from one part to another; the new mill (a very large and expenſive building) is almoſt entirely down; the flour thrown, ſack after ſack, into the river, and the proprietor's books, receipts, and ſome money, all ſtolen or deſtroyed.——At night, every baker in town had their windows broken, and many their furniture demoliſhed in the ſtreets.——This morning they were diſperſed, but met again at four o'clock this afternoon, and are ten times more deſperate than ever. Several of the court have been near being killed by ſtones from the mob, in endeavouring to queſh them. A large malt houſe is now actually in flames, ſeveral houſes tearing down, and the magiſtracy and the city in the greateſt conſternation for the event, which muſt (as we have no military force) be fatal and bloody. The court has this minute ſummoned every houſe-keeper to take a ſtaff and oppoſe the rioters; what ſucceſs it will be attended with, we are all impatient to learn. You may depend upon the truth of every particular, and that we ſhall hear of infinite miſchief in the morning. Yours, &c."

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at Coventry, to his friend in London, dated Sept. 28.

"There was great rioting here on Friday laſt, by the colliers from the neighbouring pits, and the town's people, who readily joined them. They took a waggon load of cheeſe out of one of the ſtore houſes, to the Market Croſs, and began to ſell it by weight, but that was ſoon over; ſo they ſold large cheeſes for 2 s. 2 s. 6 d. and 3 s. per cheeſe; but that alſo ſoon ceaſed; for the mob took it without money or price; They carried a cart load of cheeſe away, and only carried the owner three ſhillings back for it. It was all diſpoſed of at the open Croſs. Many poor children had cheeſe for their ſuppers, that had not taſted a bit for months before. There were more waggon loads of wheat at the Croſs, on that day, than ever I ſaw at any one time there in my life before, and oats alſo, though very dear, for I gave 10 s. for one bag of Poland oats."

Laſt Thurſday morning a large number of people aſſembled at Kidderminſter, who were joined by about 300 colliers, who threatened deſtruction to a miller in that town, for raiſing, as they ſaid, the price of grain; on which two gentlemen ventured to go into the midſt of them, and convinced them of their error; and the colliers promiſed that no hurt ſhould be done by them, and that they would do all in their power to hinder others. On this the farmers and millers agreed to ſell their wheat at five ſhillings a buſhel; and the dealers in butter at ſixpence a pound. A ſubſcription was ſet on foot to purchaſe a quantity for next market day, and the millers promiſed to buy no more wheat, but ſet aſide their buſineſs on their own account, 'till the poor were ſatisfied.

Letters from all parts are filled with the melancholly accounts of riſings on account of the high price of proviſions; but one from Saliſbury mentions, that the mob having found in Bradley Mill in that county, flour, corn, ground chalk, lime, and horſe-beans, it ſo exaſperated them, that after deſtroying it all, they vowed revenge againſt all bolting mills, as on them were always mixed the bad ingredients, and the mob accordingly deſtroyed ſeven or eight more.

OCTOBER 3.

They write from Amſterdam, that ſeveral thouſand firelocks have been ſhipped there on board a Dutch tranſport for the iſland of Corſica.

OCTOBER 4.

It is worth obſervation, that in all human probability, the attention of parliament will be little left deeply engaged, the next ſeſſion, with the affairs of the eaſt, than it was the laſt with thoſe of the weſt.

His excellency Prince de Maſſerano, the Spaniſh ambaſſador, holds frequent conferences with the miniſtry, on the ſubject of the Manilla ranſom, which, it is ſaid, is to be all made at one payment.

The petty officers on board Admiral Corniſh's ſquadron at taking the Manilla, it is ſaid, will ſhare 600 dollars per man, when the ranſom is paid.

We hear the Dolphin man of war, and her conſorts, during their expedition to the South-Seas, will make an attempt towards the diſcovery of Solomon's Iſlands, imperfectly mentioned by former voyagers; for finding out of which the Governor of Panama fitted out ſeveral ſhips, but without ſucceſs.

A company of the royal regiment of artillery is ordered to be in readineſs to embark for North America; being intended for Governor Rogers's new ſettlement of Michillimackinac in Canada.

We are informed, that patents are making out for ſeven or eight new peerages; among the reſt, it is ſaid, the Earl of Briſtol and Lord Viſcount Townſhend are to be created Marquiſſes.

CHARLES-TOWN, December 15, 1766.

Extract of a Letter from KENOWEE, dated November 18, 1766.

"THE gentleman from England, who came last year into this nation, upon the plan of civilizing and educating the Cherokees, has opened a SCHOOL near the garison of Fort Prince-George, by the recommendation of George Price, Esq; commandant of that fort, and the desire of the Lower-Towns Indians; who are more acquainted with our manners than those over the Hills, and have put six of their youths under his care, who have made greater progress in spelling and writing, for the time, than might have been expected from the inconstancy natural to Indians; but his method and diligence may do a great deal towards their getting the better of this. The Indians have it very much at heart that their children should be instructed in learning, and have given Mr. Hammerer all the assistance their situation would allow them."

A party of Northward Indians have lately killed eight Cherokees, and carried off a boy prisoner from within a few miles of Fort Prince George.

The Snow Indian-Trader, Thomas McMin master, from Georgia for Jamaica, was cast away on the 10th of September, on a reef of rocks near the Grand Caicos (one of the Bahama-Islands) where the captain, passengers and crew happily got ashore, and were treated with great humanity by some wreckers, who afterwards carried them to Providence.

We hear that His Majesty's frigate the Escorte, commanded by Thomas Foley, Esq; in going over the bar of Providence, struck, and received so much damage, that it was doubted if she could be made fit for the sea again.

The sloop Hope, Charles Henry master, of and for this port, from Philadelphia, look'd on as a missing vessel, we hear, after meeting with much bad weather, has got safe into St. Augustine.

Thursday last His Majesty's pasquet-boat the Hillsb rough, commanded by capt. William Adams, sailed for Falmouth. Thick foggy weather prevented her sailing sooner, as it did many vessels from coming in.

Thomas Gadsden, Esq; with Mrs. Gadsden (a daughter of Admiral Gascoigne, whom he married in England) Mr. John Huger, and Mr. Paul Mazyck, are arrived here from London, in the ship Constant-Friend, Capt. Alcock.

Ralph Izard, Esq; John Apthorp, Esq; with Mrs. Apthorp, Mr. —— Apthorp and Lieut. Wright, going to his Majesty's ship Escorte, at New-Providence, are arrived here, from New-York, in the ship New-Hope, Captain Gifford.

And Capt. Henry Gordon, Lieut. Sweerenham, and Ensign Hutchins, from Pensacola, in the Brigt. Success, Captain Henderson.

The ship Middleton, Captain Ryall, is arrived at Beaufort, from London.

We have advice by capt. James Henderson, from Pensacola, who put in here last Saturday, that a most terrible hurricane was felt there on the 2nd of October, which had done much damage as well on shore as in the harbour: That the gale began at E. S. E. was extremely violent from about 10 o' clock at night till 6 in the morning, when, the wind shifting to the W. S. W. it abated: That only four vessels rode it out, not without receiving some damage; and all the rest were driven ashore, viz. the brigt. Rebecca, Robert Craig, master, from this port, a brigt. from the Bay of Honduras, belonging to Jamaica, four of whose hands and the owner's son were drowned, four schooners, and one sloop, all of which were entirely lost, except one of the schooners (a man of war's tender) that was likely to be got off. That on the 2d instant his Majesty's ship the Ferret, commanded by capt. Murray, came in there from a cruize entirely dismasted. And that five very rich Spanish galleons, from La Vera Cruz, bound for Havanna and Old Spain, were drove ashore in the Bay of St. Bernard, W. and S. of Pensacola, some time before the hurricane of the 2nd of October, to whose relief a vessel had been sent from New-Orleans, but was supposed to be lost, whereupon the Adventure man of war, commanded by capt. Fitzherbert, sailed from Pensacola the 11th of November, to give them all possible assistance.
